Overview

The information in this report sets out the expenditure for The Cranston Inquiry (the “Inquiry”) for Quarter 2 (Q2) Financial Year 2024-2025.

The Inquiry is an independent non-statutory inquiry into the event on 24 November 2021 when at least 27 people lost their lives while attempting to cross the Channel from France to the UK. The Secretary of State for Transport announced that there would be a non-statutory inquiry into this event on 9 November 2023.

The Inquiry will look into who the deceased were, and when, where and in what circumstances they came by their deaths. It will also consider what lessons can be learned and, if appropriate, make recommendations to reduce the risk of a similar event occurring.

Notes on financial figures

The figures in this report have not been compiled by professional accountants and are only intended to provide an overview of the level of expenditure over a financial year.

Every attempt has been made to ensure the figures are as accurate as possible, as of December 2025.

All figures exclude VAT.

The figures attempt to show when the costs were incurred, and when the goods and services were received. In some cases, this will be different to when the invoice was raised or when the amount was paid to the supplier.

Further financial information about the Inquiry's finances during its term can be obtained from the financial reports for the Department for Transport (DfT) – the sponsoring department for the Inquiry.

The figures in this report may differ from records published by DfT, which works on an accruals basis for calculations. We expect that when the whole life costs of the Inquiry are analysed, the total expenditure will be the same, but whilst the Inquiry is ongoing, certain amounts may be recorded in different financial quarters and years.
